VINEYARD

Luján de Cuyo, Mendoza. Traditional and well-known wine-growing region in Mendoza, situated at high elevations ranging from 3,251 to 3,467 feet. Semi-desert climate.

SOIL

Low-nutrient, gravelly soils, providing ideal conditions for high quality grape production.

GROWING SEASON

The growing season kicked off sooner than usual with an early bud break, a result of a warm, dry spring. The growing season proceeded in good form, and special care and management in the vineyard helped alleviate the impact of unusual rainfall from mid-December to late March. Despite the resulting delay in sugar accumulation, the grapes achieved full physiological maturity, and harvest took place only slightly later than normal. Yields: 2.0 to 3.79 tons per acre.

AGING & BOTTLING

Aged for 17 months in new French oak (15%) and new American oak (20%), as well as second-use oak (65%). Bottled October 2015. Unfined and unfiltered.
